All about Kingfishers

Kingfishers

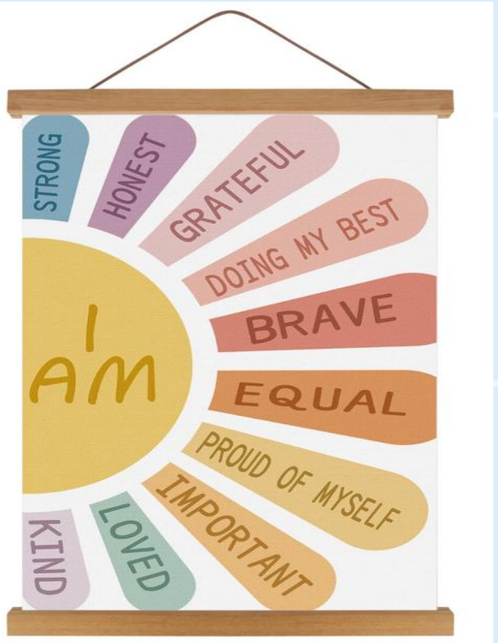

Welcome to Kingfishers Blog.

We will be sharing with you some exciting things that we do at school.

Spring Term

We have many exciting things in store for this term.

Stay tuned

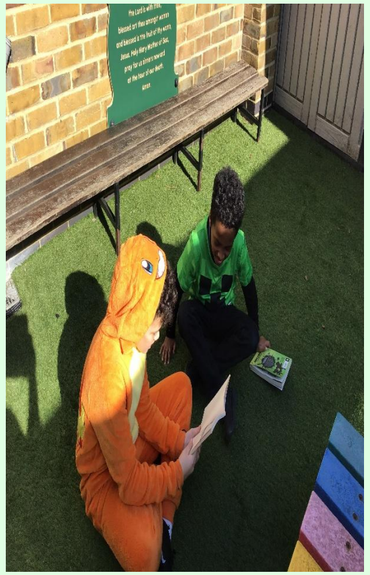

World Book Day

I was blown away with the 'Book in the Box' entries this year. You could tell how much effort and time had been put into each and everyone and the children really enjoyed sharing their amazing creations with the class during a 'show and tell' session. The children were so complimentary and supportive of each other. Miss Brown had her work cut out for her during judging.

WORLD BOOK DAY BUDDY READING

The children of Kingfishers were delighted to be joined by the children from YR 4 Kestrels. They spent some quality time in the glorious sunshine sharing the books they brought in. They took in turns reading to each other and it was a joy as a teacher to see so much excitement and love around reading.

Drama Workshop

Drama Workshop

The children really enjoyed their Drama Workshop.

They went on an adventure through a magical toy store searching for the special Golden Key.

There were listening and team games and lots of fun had.

Children's Mental Heath Week

9th FEB-15th FEB

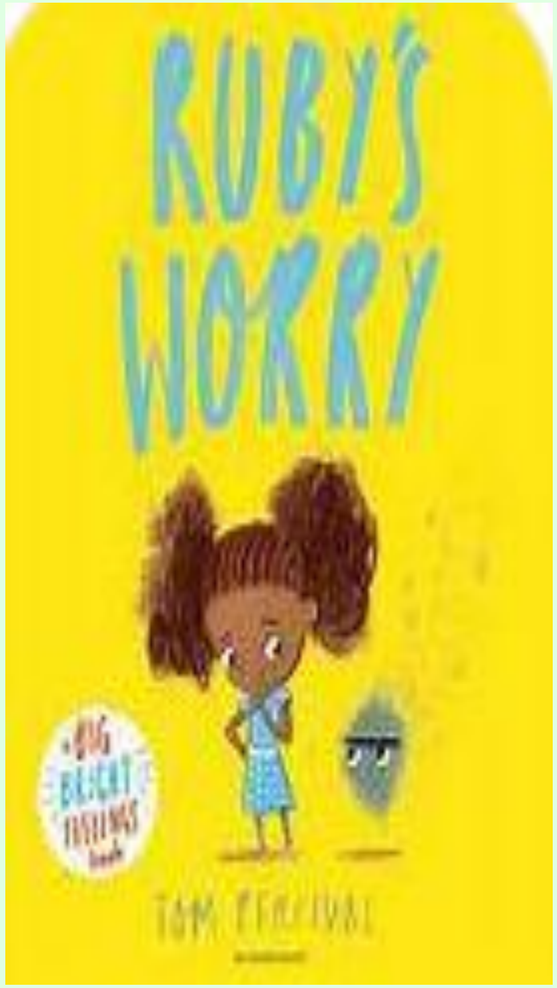

Children's Mental Health Week 2026 is an annual initiative organised by the children's mental health charity Place2Be to raise awareness of young people's mental health and encourage open conversations about emotional wellbeing in schools across the UK. The official theme, "This Is My Place," highlights the importance of belonging, helping children feel valued, connected, and supported within their school communities. A strong sense of belonging is linked to improved confidence, relationships, engagement, and academic outcomes.

The children enjoyed special assemblies and lessons dedicated to exploring their mental health and how important it is.

We recapped over 'Zones of Regulations' and talked through what to do it we ever feel worried or concerned.

Children's Mental Health Week

Ruby's worry

Ruby is a happy, confident little girl who enjoys doing all the things children love—playing, exploring, and spending time with friends. One day she notices a small worry following her around. At first it's tiny, but the more Ruby thinks about it and keeps it to herself, the bigger it grows. Soon the worry begins to get in the way of the things she enjoys. Eventually, Ruby notices another child with a worry too. When they start talking, something important happens: their worries shrink. Ruby learns that sharing how we feel can help lighten the weight of our worries.

What the children could take from this wonderful story

- Everyone has worries sometimes.
- Worries can grow if we keep them inside.
- Talking to someone we trust can help us feel better.

Dress to Express

The children had the a lovely day for Day to Express. It was like a beautiful rainbow in the Kingfishers classroom and everyone was in great spirits.
